EDITOR'S PREFACE

Being both editor of the Handbook and vice-president of the Student Government Association, my message is two-fold I am concerned not only with organizing a handbook but also with organizing a student body. The work of the Handbook is completed. The work of the student body has just begun.

"The goal of art is not simple pleasure, rather it partakes of the nature of happiness." (Le Carbusier and Ozenfant). So let it be with the students at the Massachusetts College of Art.

Frank Siccone

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Each new academic year of the college offers opportunities for growth and change: growth in insight and change in practice. But growth and change are useless unless directed toward goals of value to each of us within the college.

The goals of the faculty are to encourage originality in thought and vision, excellence in technical competencies, a sensitivity to man's responsibilities to himself, to others, and to his environment, and a recognition of the role of art within our society.

These goals — not new, but still vital—should serve as check points in the sometimes swiftly moving flux of collegiate life and in the search we all maintain for purpose within our lives. I trust that you will measure your gains by seeking excellence in your assignments and satisfaction in your contributions to student activities.

Dr. Henry A. Steeger
Acting President

S. G. A. — PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The student must obtain relevancy on two levels: he must have relevancy within the college, and a relevancy to the existing art world beyond the thin boundaries of the college campus.

A productive relationship between the student and his educational environment is essential. Once the student begins his major direction he must accept the responsibility of his education. This not only demands the attitudes and involvement of the professional artist, but a determination that these standards are met.

The artist also contemplates his relationship to the world itself and the art world around him. Both worlds render pressures on him. There is the external relationship of man to nature, man to himself, man in relation to his fellow man, and there is also the creative relationship of the artist to contemporary life. Technology, and social, political, and philosophical upheavals exert a massive amount of pressure on the artist of today. Does he accept it? Does he reject it? Does one still put paint on a canvas? These are but a few of the questions that the developing artist is obligated to ask.

Robert Pollock

S. G. A. President

HISTORY OF MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGE OF ART

In 1968, Massachusetts College of Art enters its ninety-sixth year of service in the field of education in art.

The factors that combined to bring about the establishment of Massachusetts College of Art in 1873 are apparent as one visualizes the Commonwealth of that day. Here was a state which was pre-eminent in education and in intellectual pursuits of every sort; it had organized the first public school system, founded the first college, and established the first normal school in this country; and Massachusetts authors — Longfellow, Lowell, Emerson, Holmes, Hawthorne — brought its culture to full fruition shortly before the Civil War. In addition, Massachusetts factories and mills led the nation in the production of many manufactured commodities, especially textiles and shoes. From these two strands, the intellectual and the industrial, was woven the fabric that was Massachusetts; and the tradition of educational leadership, combined with industrial necessity, led to the founding of Massachusetts College of Art.

By 1870, the rapidly expanding economy of the state required workers with basic art skills. The Legislature of 1870, in response to a petition pointing out that need, made drawing a required subject in all public schools of the Commonwealth.

To meet the subsequent demand for trained drawing teachers, the Massachusetts Normal Art School (now Massachusetts College of Art) was established three years later. On November 6, 1873, the first students, "thirty-nine gentlemen and sixty-eight ladies" were enrolled. "The course of study was devised to meet the needs of the hour," and every change in the curriculum during the past ninety years has reasserted this aim of its founders and of its first principal, Mr. Walter Smith, long associated with industrial art education in England.

Although the original purpose of the institution was to train future teachers and supervisors of art, other art needs within the Commonwealth were soon recognized, and the curriculum was enlarged and broadened to include several areas of specialization. The expansion in offerings was the direct result of cognizance that well-trained designers were needed in the industries of the State. Further, there was a growing interest in the profitable use of business advertising made possible by advances in reproduction methods and printing. These factors reflected perceptibly in the curriculum of the School and have remained as a marked influence through the years. National and international recognition of the school's achievements followed during its first decade of existence.

Ever-increasing enrollment forced it out of its original quarters in Pemberton Square, Boston to the Deacon House on Washington Street. From there it moved to a new building on Newbury and Exeter Streets, where larger accommodations gave opportunities for greater development and progress. Fifty years of vital growth ensued.

In 1924, the Massachusetts Board of Education authorized the awarding of the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education to graduates of the Teacher Education department.

In September, 1930, the school moved to its present location.

At the termination of World War II, a program for veterans was introduced. The school is proud of the sincere application to study which was made by those veterans who entered the school under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Under postwar organization, the school was faced with the challenge of numerous applications for admission, coming from all parts of the United States and a number of foreign countries. The facilities of the institution have been used to the fullest to house a greatly increased enrollment.

Authorization was granted by law on February 4, 1950 for the conferring of the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree. On June 4, 1950, the graduates from the Departments of General Design, Drawing and Painting, and Fashion Design and Illustration were recognized by the awarding of this new degree. In 1954, the first graduates of the Ceramic Design department received the B.F.A. degree.

By an Act of Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the school officially became Massachusetts College of Art effective July 27, 1959.

The art profession is both exacting and challenging. Practitioners in this field who have had the advantages of adequate education and experience can realize a profitable and worthwhile life. Massachusetts College of Art graduates have proved this by their distinctive achievements in fine Arts, graphic design, industrial design, book and magazine illustration, fashion, crafts, teaching, and in community endeavors.

GENERAL INFORMATION

ACCREDITATION

Massachusetts College of Art is accredited by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is a charter member of the National Association of Schools of Design and a member of the American Council on Education.

DRESS AND APPEARANCE

Freedom of choice in dress implies a mature sense of responsibility to the college. Manner of dress is not only a reflection of the student, but also a reflection of the college. Cleanliness and neatness will be expected of all; their importance cannot be over-emphasized. An additional expectation is that dress will always be appropriate for the nature of the class activity or college-sponsored function.

EXHIBITION AND OPEN HOUSE

During the academic year, exhibitions of student and professional work are shown at the college. The end of the academic year is marked by a special showing of the work of the entire student body, to which the public is invited.

LOSS OR DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

The College assumes no responsibility for any loss or damage to the property of the students.

CANCELLATION OF CLASSES

When inclement weather makes the closing of the College necessary, announcements to that effect are made over stations WHDH, WRKO, WBZ, and WEEI at 7:00 A.M. or shortly thereafter.

REFUNDS

If a student withdraws from the College, tuition is refundable as follows: 100% within the first two weeks of the semester except the $20 registration fee required of new students; 60% during the third through sixth week; after the sixth week of classes, no refund is allowed.

STUDENT SERVICES

BULLETIN BOARDS

Information of importance and interest to students will be posted on bulletin boards. The bulletin board outside the Academic Dean's office will carry official notices to students. An adjacent bulletin board will carry current information pertaining to student activities. The bulletin board in the Cafeteria located outside the Student Government Association office is maintained by the Student Government Association and will contain notices of their activities and messages to the students.

These bulletin boards, being the sole established means of communication, should be consulted daily.

CAFETERIA

The College Cafeteria is operated for the convenience of the students. It is open from 7:30 A.M. to 3:00 P.M. on each school day. The large number serviced by this facility necessitates a high degree of cooperation on the part of students in clearing their tables in order to maintain the prevailing prices of food as well as standards of cleanliness.

CAMPUS POLICE

Mr. David Wilcox has been appointed a Special Police Officer with appropriate authority upon lands used or owned by the College.

FINANCIAL AID PROGRAM

At the Massachusetts College of Art there are several programs available to help students meet their financial needs:

National Defense Student Loan Program: To help meet expenses, students may apply for N.D.S.L. Money borrowed is repaid after graduation at 3% interest with a special loan cancellation of 10% per year for five years should the graduate become a teacher. Freshmen may not apply until after they register.

Educational Opportunity Grant Program. For students with a severe financial need, the College has available the Educational Opportunity Grant Program under which a student may receive a grant ranging from $200 to $800. Those making application for admission to the college may apply for a grant prior to registration.

Work-Study Program. A third Federal Program available to students at the College provides part-time employment at the College. In this way, students may earn in the vicinity of $25 per week to help meet their costs. Freshmen are advised not to participate during their first semester.

Two other programs of which students should be aware include the Board of Higher Education Scholarship Program, and the Higher Education Loan Program.

Board of Higher Education Scholarships. These scholarships are intended for needy and academically worthy full-time students attending regionally accredited institutions. Applications should be obtained by Freshmen from their high school guidance office. Applications can be obtained by upper-classmen at the College and must be filed by early

May each year. Scholarships are awarded in the summer and are paid directly to the institution where the students are enrolled.

Higher Education Loan Program. This program is administered directly by local banks throughout the Commonwealth. Up to $1,000 per year may be borrowed with repayment of the principal beginning after graduation at 3% interest to be paid by the student. Inquiry about the Higher Education Loan Program should be made at the student's local bank.

Questions regarding these programs may be directed to Dean Russell Doucette at the Massachusetts College of Art.

FIRE DRILL AND CIVIL DEFENSE SIGNALS

Students should become familiar with information concerning Fire Drill and Civil Defense Signals posted in each room.

HEALTH SERVICES

The office of the nurse is located on the library level of the building above the Fashion Department. The nurse is on duty from 12:00 P.M. until 1:00 P.M. each school day.

Because of the location of the College, medical attention is readily attainable at Beth Israel or one of the other hospitals surrounding the College should a serious need develop.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS

I.D. cards are used for the purpose of identification in the library and at many of the College functions. It should be carried at all times. Loss should be reported immediately to the Dean of Students. Replacement charge is $1.50. Loaning this card to anyone subjects the holder to disciplinary action.

I.D. cards become void upon termination or interruption of enrollment and should be returned to the Academic Dean's office.

INSURANCE

The students of the College are offered a: Accident and Sickness Insurance Program including a Major Medical Expense benefit. Each student receives a flyer before the opening of the school year along with an application.

This Student's Accident and Sickness Insurance Program is designed to provide protection at a reasonable cost against unexpected and frequent health expenses. Purchase of policy is optional but highly recommended. Mr. Russell J. Doucette, Dean of Students, will answer questions pertaining to this program.

LOCKERS

Clothing and material lockers are provided for the students. The student must acquire his own locks and should take care to secure his materials. The College will not be responsible for the loss of clothing, money or other valuables.

LIBRARY

The library is open the entire year, Monday through Friday, 8:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. The collections are on open shelves, allowing free access to all books and periodicals.

To avoid accidents, food and drink are not allowed in the library. Water colors and ink may be used with permission of the librarian.

Magazines are charged overnight unless a request is made for a longer loan period. Reserve books, requested by faculty for class reading assignments circulate overnight or for the weekend, from 2:00 P.M. to 9:00 A.M. the following day.

Recordings from the collection and on reserve may be listened to in the library. They do not circulate.

Students should feel free to request that the library obtain any book that is not in the collection.

MILITARY SERVICE

The Academic Dean will answer questions pertaining to military service. Male students are reminded that they must register with their draft boards upon reaching the age of 18. When a student receives his selective service number, he should report it to the office of the Academic Dean so that papers for student deferment may be submitted. After the Academic Dean receives the student's SSN, all forms for student deferment will be taken care of automatically until such time as a student withdraws or graduates.

All parking spaces are assigned during registration week and no cars without an official sticker will be permitted to park in the College lot. Violations will result in a fine from the Roxbury District Police Station issued by the campus police.

SCHOOL STORE

Art School Associates Inc. "the school store," is maintained for the convenience of students. Here art materials may be purchased at reasonable prices. The store is student-managed and operated with the approval of a board of directors. Each year, the profits from purchases are returned to the students through scholarships and various purchases of equipment beneficial to the entire student body.

All materials and books required for the course work in the College are available in the school store. The store is open 8:00 A.M.-9:00 A.M., 12:00 P.M.-12:30 P.M., and 3:30 P.M.-4:30 P.M.
